BROAD WINS ON A FOUL. Sullivan Hits Him Below the Belt in Sixteenth Round.

In the sixteenth round of a hard glove fight at the Sea Side Sporting Club of Coney Island last night, Dave Sullivan, the Boston featherweight, was disqualified for hitting Kid Broad of Cleveland below the belt. Up to that time Broad had outpointed Sullivan, who received a severe punching with remarkable pluck. It would not be fair to say that Sullivan committed an intentional foul, but the blow upon which he was ruled out could not be overooked. About 8,000 spectators saw the mill, which was exciting at every stage.

The preliminary bout was arranged for twelve rounds at catch weights, the principals being Sam Bolan, colored, and "Cyclone" Quinn, white, both of New York. Billy Madden was the referee. In the tenth round the "Cyclone" was knocked down with a right-hander on the jaw, but he jumped up and mixed it up with enough strength to keep Bolan off during the balance of the round. The latter got the decision and was entitled to it, but half of the crowd hissed. Sullivan was favorite over Broad at odds of 10 to 8. The former was handled by his brother, 'Spike" Sullivan, Jack Hanley, Jimmy Deforest and Billy Charlton. Broad's seconds were Pete Burns, Walter O'Connor and Sam Bolan, They were matched to fight twenty-five rounds at 126 pounds, weigh in at 8 o'clock. Both men wore bandages on their hands. Sullivan, who was in splendid condition, began forcing the fight as soon as the bell called them out. Dave outpointed his man with fast lefts on the face and solid righthanders to the body. Broad countered with effect on the head and ribs.

Sullivan began the second round with more swift lefthanders, but Broad, who was warming up to his work, stood him off with jabs and swings. They were soon in a hot rally, Sullivan making his opponent clinch from hard belts in the stomach. Broad was the pacemaker at the opening of the third round. He shot his left repeatedly into Dave's face, but the latter soon beat him off with body blows and hot swings on the neck. The round was even, but not so exciting as the crowd wanted. Sullivan's mouth was cut in the fourth, Broad rouring in more lefts. Dave mixed it, and the Kid said he was hit below the belt. The referee paid no attention to the protest. Broad then began rushing heavily with a hard right on the jaw and he sent Sullivan down for a full count. When Dave got up Broad tried to finish him, but Sullivan, while in distress, staggered the Kid with smashes in the stomach and kept him off until the bell.

Broad was hushing again in the fifth. He reached the mouth and neck with solid swings and Sullivan staggered. Broad rushed fiercely and in a desperate mix Sullivan's left eye was split open. Broad went in with left and right swings delivered vered so rapidly that Sullivan was bewildered, but Dave kept his feet and finished well. Sullivan met a rush in the sixth with a hot swing on the jaw that made Broad clinch. The latter stood off then and peppered Dave's face with lefts. Sullivan swing wildly and Broad, getting to close quarters, staggered Dave with a couple of belts on the head. Broad was faster now, while Sullivan was comparatively slow in landing his clinch from hard belts in the stomach. Broad on the head. Broad was faster now, while Sullivan was comparatively slow in landing his blows. Broad had a big advantage all through the round.

Broad wasted no time in the seventh. He went to his man with sharp punches in the face. Sullivan used his feet and also blocked some, but at that he was forced to receive a gruelling punching. Broad was in again with quick facers in the eight. Sullivan tried hard swings for the jaw, but they were for the most part wild until he got Broad near the ropes. Then Dave shook his man with several wallops on the head. Broad stood away after that and banged Sullivan's face again with long lefts. Sullivan met his antagonist in the ninth with straightleft and right swings on the neck that were effective enough to make the Kid cautious. Broad waited for an opening then and walloped the damaged eye with a punch that make Sullivan wince. Dave railied near the end and with a left joit on the jaw he pulled Broad up to a halt.

Broad was forcing it again in the tenth, but Sullivan stood up and exchanged smashes with him until the Kid was on the defensive. Broad cut loose again the next moment and drove in the blows to the head with such rapidity that Sullivan had to clinch. They roughed it in the last minute. Broad countered his man as soon as they came out for the eleventh, and an old-fashioned bee resulted. Broad landed the cleaner blows, but Sullivan had many punches left. When the round ended Sullivan was bleeding from the mouth, nose and eye.

and many punches left. When the round ended sullivan was bleeding from the mouth, nose and eye.

In the twelfth Bread continued to shoot in facers which again covered Dave's face with crimson fluid. Sullivan countered steadily on the head, but he did not seem able to weaken the Kid, who was after him hard in the last minute. Sullivan improved somewhat in the thirteenth. He used a higher guard and reached the neck with enough swings to keep Broad on the go, Sullivan worked hard toward the end and had the round. Before the fourteenth began Sullivan's seconds complained to the referee that Broad's handlers were using some kind of suffocating ointment upon him, but the referee waved them off. Then Broad resumed his former tactics, pounding the dama'ed face with swings and jabs, while Sullivan took them all and mixed it hotly. Broad outpunched his man, however, and Dave was weak in the legs when he sat down.

and Dave was weak in the legs when he sat down.

Good Roads Men Working for a Plank in the After pounding away at the good roads

uestion for a score of years the L. A. W. has succeeded in having it recognized in the Republican platform by the following plank: "Public movements looking to a perma-nent improvement of the roads and highways of the country meet with our cordial approval and we recommend this subject to the earnest latures of the several States." Representatives of the League are now at Kansas City to work for a similar recognition from the Democrats. That the matter is worthy of national attention is shown by the figures of the Road Inquiry Office at Washington, which states that it costs seven cents a ton per mile in Europe to haul produce, while here it costs about 25 cents a ton for each mile. Poor roads are estimated to have cost agriculturists and teamsters upwards of $500,-000,000 last year.

AUGUSTA. Me., July 8.—By riding from Hertford, Conn., to Augusta, Me., in 27 hours and 12 minutes Edwin Simons of Bridgeport, Conn. broke the 300-mile record. Simons left Hartford on Saturday morning at 7 o'clock. He was paced from that city to Boston by a motor tandem; from Boston to Brunswick, Me., by tandems and from Brunswick to this city by singles ridden by Charles Thompson and Louis Tibbetts. He arrived at Boston at 4:23 o'clock on Saturday afternoon and went to the Emergency Hospital for a rub-down and a brief rest. At 4:50 o'clock he continued his run, reaching Portland at 3:20 o'clock yesterday morning. Owing to a misunderstanding about his pacemakers, he did not start from Portland until 4:10 o'clock, but he reached this city at 10:12 this morning, two hours earlier than was expected. pected.

He took food three times on the trip, at Springfield, Boston and Freeport, Mc. When he arrived here he was in fairly good condition but did not eat anything up to 6 o'clock on the advice of physicians. The former record, 29 hours and 28 minutes for 300 miles, was held by Joseph Ashley of Bridgeport, and was made over the New York course.

Philadelphia vs. New York at Cricket.

The annual intercity cricket match between New York and Philadelphia began yesterday on the grounds of the Livingston Field Club at Staten Island, and so far as the play has gone the visitors have decidedly the best of the argument. Batting first on a 'good wicket the Philadelphians began right from the start to pile on the runs, and J. B. King and J. H. Mason put on 58 before the first wicket fell. H. C. Thayer and A. W. Jones then got together, and despite all efforts to dislodge them they kept up the good work until their partnership had yielded no less than 134 runs. The New York bowling proved weak, for after M. R. Cobb and F. F. Keily were hit off, there

M. R. Cobb and F. F. Keny were hit on, there was no one to take their places. Jones played a fine inning for $2, but was lucky in being caught off a no-ball. Thayer also batted freely and well for 65.

Another prolonged stand took place when J. W. Muir and E. Norris got together. Norris eventually played the innings of the day, for when stumps were drawn he was credited with no less than 151, and was still undisposed of. During his long inning he gave no palpable chance, but he was extremely lucky in placing balls just out of the reach of a fielder, while

The home team was anxious to finish the inning before drawing stumps, but T. C. Jordan stuck to his task, and the last wicket so far has been responsible for the addition $7.70 runs to the score. Play will be resumed this morning at the c'clock, when J. B. King will get an opportunity of displaying his bowling prowess to the metropolis. The score:

SURPRISE IN THE LONG ISLAND HANDICAP AT SHEEPSHEAD BAY. The Old Mare Just Falls to Concede Thirtyone Pounds-Jack Point Equals Record in the Distance Race on Turf-Realization and Other Specialties for To-day-Entries. The beginning of the end, as far as the present meeting of the Coney Island Jockey Club consideration of the people and of the Legisis concerned, was reached at Sheepshead Bay yesterday. Interest is accumulating as the grand finale approaches and for the eve of Independence Day when nearly everybody is economizing breath and money, the attend ance was decidedly good. A stiff breeze from the ocean swept the enclosure and kept the atmos-phere deliciously cool, but it proved a serious handican to horses racing against it down the new Futurity course and on the home stretch. All but one of the favorites failed to score and about the only fortunate plungers were those who followed Shaw, the rider of three winners.

All other events on the card were dwarfed in importance by the Long Island Handicap, last of the June series. Voter, who won the Coney Island on June 19, was an absentee, but Greyfeld, winner of the Sheepshead Bay on June 23, took up nine pounds extra and essayed to repeat yesterday. His chances were so highly estimated that weight of money forced his odds from 6 to 1 to 9 to 2. The real betting, however, was between Imp and Rush, who alternated in favoritism up to post time when the odds stood 11 to 5, Imp; 5 to 2, Rush The distance being one mile and a furlong brought the start directly in front of the grand stand and let amateur critics see for themselves what a hard proposition the man with the flag has to face, day in and day out. A worse-behaved lot of horses old enough to know better rarely faced the barrier. Imp, as usual, stood as quiet as a lamb next the inner rail, but Rush on her immediate right, and Raffaello, Greyfeld and Charentus further out, cut up all kinds of antics and threatened to delay the start indefinitely. Rush falled to get off abreast of Imp when the flag went down and Charentus, crossing over, not only shut her off at the first turn, but also outfooted to get off abreast of Imp when the flag went down and Charentus, crossing over, not only shut her off at the first turn, but also outfooted Imp and took the lead. Greyfeld bobbed up into second place on the backstretch while Rush was still tangled up in the rear brigade. Old Imp swooped down on Charentus nearing the turn out of the backstretch and took a slight lead. Charentus, with his pull of thirty-one pounds in the weights, hung on and when they struck the head wind in the run home, he again outfooted the mare. Greyfeld also came looking for his race at this stage, and a sensational drive ensued with Charentus, Imp and Greyfeld necks agart at the end in the order named. Raffaello trailed, as usual, to the last furlong tole where he cut loose like a Texas quarter horse, but too late to get any nearer than fourth. Rush just succeeded in beating John Bright.

The first race of the day was signalized by the appearance of W.C. Whitney's Killashandra. Her only opponents were: Richard J., however, found such solid support that his odds tumbled from 4 to 5 to 15 to 20 while 13 to 10 could be had against the racy-looking daughter of Goldfinch—Connemara. The big Morello horse proved as quick as ever at jumping into his stride but the filly soon drew past without much of an effort and won easily by two lengths. The outsider hung on gamely for five furlongs but could not stand the pace further.

An unwieldy field of twelve caused a lot of trouble in the chute at the start of the mile, old Dolando being the principal offender. He ruled favorite but got lost in the shuffle when the flag fell and Leedsville went out to make pace with Kamara and Peaceful next. With a lot of educated money to account for, Shaw took Kamara the shortest route and spreadengled his field. The Candlemas filly romped home by five lengths in remarkable time, under the circumstances. Leedsville seemed to have an iron-clad mortgage on second place but Brennan eased him prematurely and Peaceful seized the advantage. Brennan was fined $25 for breaking killed off her chances racing in front and Mac-Leod of Dare pumped himself out chasing her. Jack Point came along at the right time and wen easily by four lengths, tieing the best record over this course made by the six-year-oid Joe Miller, with a feather on his back, in 1897. Shaw incurred a fine of $25 for refusing a good break with the Amazon.

The meeting winds up to-day with the his-toric Lawrence Realization as the main attrac-tion. Ten of the best three-year-oids in train-ing are named as probable starters. In addi-tion there is the Independence Steeplechase, the second running of the Double Event and a highweight handicap.

Madden Says Jeffries Must Come to Time on Next Monday.
Billy Madden, manager of Gus Ruhlin, the 'Akron Giant," wants Jim Jeffries to come to

"Akron Giant," wants Jim Jeffries to come to time as speedily as possible. In order to expedite matters he has decided to give the champion only a few more days in which to make up his mind.

"I am going to post $2,500 next Monday," said Madden yesterday. "In doing so I shall expect Jeffries to be promptly on hand to cover the cash. If he falls to do so I will ignore him and arrange a fight with Bob Fitzsimmons and sign articles the following day. This is my ultimatum and it is only fair. Ruhlin has worked his way by hard work to the high position he occupies in the puglistic world, and if Jeffries does not grasp at the opportunity of making a match now he ought to be ignored."

Jeffries is out of town but will return on Friday. He told a reporter of The Sun last Sunday that his manager, Billy Brady, is expected to arrive from Europe inside of a fortnight. The boilermaker has declared his willingness to fight Ruhlin, but contends that as Brady does all of his business it is only proper that he should have time in which to consult him.

DEATH OF CHARLES BACKMAN.

Founder of Stony Ford a Notable Figure is

his chair at Stony Ford, in Orange county, last Saturday night, was one of the first and foremost breeders of trotting horses in America Mr. Backman amassed a fortune in business in New York before the Civil War and in 1864 he gratifled his long-time liking for horses by establishing at Stony Ford a stud which was unequaled anywhere in the world, excepting perhaps at the Woodburn Farm of the Alexanders in Kentucky. The pedigree of Dexter, 2:1714, who trotted his first race in that year, nfluenced Mr. Backman's theories of breeding. Dexter was by Hambletonian, then a comparatively unknown trotting sire, and his dam was by Seely's American Star. The founder of Stony Ford bought up all the desirable daughters of American Star that he could find and bred them to the Rysdyk horse year after year. By the time Hambletonian's fame was at its height Mr. Backman had more sons and daughters of the great sire than any five breeders in the country, probably. He sold them at fabulous prices and added many thousands of dollars to his fortune. When Hambletonian died in 1876 one of the most popular sons of the old horse was M. Backman's Messenger Duroc, the sire of Prospero, Elaine, and other sensational trotters. Later on the proprietor of Stony Ford paid A. B. Darling upward of $10,000 for Kentucky Prince, and from these two sires most of his trotters were descended. Guy 2:00%, the fastest horse ever raised at Stony Ford, was by Kentucky Prince, out of a mare by American Star. Among the sons of Hambletonian bred by Mr. Backman was Electioneer. He was used but little in the stud until Gov. Stanford of California bought him and placed him at the head of his newly established Palo Aito Stud. Electioneer proved to be far and away the greatest horse ever raised by Mr. Backman. At one time his sons and daughters held every important record in the list of champions, and nearly 150 of them trotted in 2:30 or better. Mr. Backman made the mistake which wound up Woodburn Farm as a nursery of trottars. He bred from his own stock without taking in any of the new blood of such horses as George Wilkes and other rising sires, and before the boom in trotters succumbed to the hard times in 1803 Stony Ford had lost its prestige.

From first to last Mr. Backman entertained with a lavish hand, and though he received hundreds of thousands of dollars for his trotters he maintained an establishment of such magnitude and expense that his fortune and his farm were virtually lost several years ago. In 1805 all his horses were sold at auction at panic prices. F. P. Olcott, W. B. Dickerman and other friends who held a mortgage on the farm leased it to Gen. B. F. Tracy a year or two afterward, but Mr. Backman was never disturbed in the possession of the historio mansion where he had entertained Gen. Grant, Robert Bonner, Roscoe Conkling, Commodore Vanderbilt and hundreds of other notable horse fanciers. The place is now about to be turned over to the Hon. W. C. Whitney, who, it is understood, will breed thoroughbred horses there. sands of dollars to his fortune. When Hambletonian died in 1876 one of the most popular

Boralma in Racing Form at Readville.

BOSTON, July 3.-The suff breeze blowing down he track at Readville to-day did not prevent good ime being made in the four events on the card for he second day of the New England Trotting Horse Breeders' Association spring meet. By far the best performance was in the 2:12 trot. Boralma, winner of the Futurity last season and purchased by W. Lawson in the fall, lowered his record one second in the first heat and seemed to be doing nothing more than jogging part of the way. He also won the second heat handly, in the 2:17 pace Paul Revere won the first heat in a close finish with Gyp Weinut, and was just beaten out in the second. In the third heat Garth, driver of Revere, started to lay up, but misjudged the distance and caught the flag. The judges fined him $100 and declared all bets on the heat off. After that the race was casy for Gyp Wainut. Silvermaker and Clinton B. made close finishes in the first two heats of the 2:12 pace, each winning by a head. Clinton B took third easily, and Clark had to drive hard to finish second over Early Bird, Jr. Dark Wilkes had things all his own way in the 2:20 pace. Summary:

Harness Racers Step Along at Terre Haute.

TERRE HAUTE, July 3.—The first day's attendance at the Terre Haute Trotting Association's experimental midsummer meeting was satisfactory. The favorite won in the 2:40 trot and the 2:25 pace, but Louis Middleton, the favorite in the 2:25 pace, and a candidate for the Detroit $5,000 Chamber of Commerce Purse, made a sorry showing. In a work out trial Grattan Boy, 2:08, made the circuit in 2:104, which is thought to be the fastest mile trotted this year. The Maid, entered in the 2:05 pace on Thursday, went a half mile in 1 minute. Summary of today's races: Harness Racers Step Along at Terre Haute. 2:22 class, pacing; purse $800:

Turf Notes.

Lady Massey declined both her engagements yesterday, and should be well rested out for this afternoon.

Decanter and Jack Point were scratched in the fourth race at Sheepshead yesterday and cut loose in the sixth. Both ran into the money and justified the judgment of their trainers in accepting heavier watchis in easier company.

judgment of their trainers in accepting heavier weights in easier company.

After Jockey Shaw's third victory yesterday there were rumors that his chief employer, "Pittsburg Phil," and friends had played him down the line and raked in enough money to celebrate the Fourth in the most approved patriotic style.

The latest edition of Goodwin's Official Turf Guide is on the market with full details of racing results from Jan. I to July 2. It has the customary charts reflecting the running of each event, a complete index and tables of records corrected up to date.

One of the mysteries of racing came to a head in the fifth race at Sheepshead Bay yesterday when J. H. Carr's Flara gailoped home in front of a large field of maiden two year-old fillies. She was confidently touted to win and experts who frame percentages placed her at the head of, the list. The uninitiated immediately wanted to know who is she—where did she come from—and what has she done. Flara is a chestnut daughter of Flanbeau—Flam, and was picked up by Mr. Carr at a mixed auction sale for $50, She made her racing debut at Morris Park on May 19, and ran second to All Green. On May 22 she tried again and ran fourth to Bedeck Prince, Charles and Carl Kahler. Yesterday's effort was her third. Chicago, July 3.—The jstewards of the Washington Park Club have decided to har Barney Schreiber and and Carl Kahler. Yesterday's effort was her third.

CHICAGO, July 3.—The stewards of the Washington Park Club have decided to bar Barney Schreiber and Steve L. Hommedieu from the privileges of the track because of the inconsistent running of the horse Fly by Night. An order will be issued to Schreiber tomorrow to remove his horses from the track The ruling also applies to his two jockey. Huchanan and Ruez. Fly by Night won the Oakwood Handleap on Saturday and it was rumored that
L. Hommedieu mide a killing on the horse, whose previous races had been such that odds of 6 to 1 were laid against his chances Schreiber is booking here, and his stable includes some of the best horses in the West, including Bannockburn, Sofola and Fly, by night. The ruling does not necessarily affect Schreiber's starding at other Western tracks.

INDEPENDENCE DAY SPORT.

Many Attractions Scheduled in Greater New York and Vicinity. Sportsmen in Greater New York and adjacent places will receive an opportunity to indulge in their favorite pastimes today, as nearly every branch of outdoor exercise is included in the programmes arranged. Chief of the athletic fixtures is the all-around championship of the A. A. U. which will be decided at Knickerbocker Fleid, Bayonne. Though most of the brilliant performers at specialties are in Europe, the best of the all-around crop have remained for the competition, and the five entries for the athletic "club ribbon" include E. C. White of Cohocton, N. Y., who won in the colors of Cornell University in 1898, and Ellery H. Clark of the Boston A. A., holder of the point record.

An international flavor will attach to the contest this year, as Harry Gill, the all-around champion of the Canadian Y. M. C. A., will compete. He is strongly fancied by the Canadians, as in a private trial he is said to have eclipsed Clark's record for the ten events. Handicap races in athletics, cycling and swimming are also on the Knickerbocker programme.

The Greater New York Irish A. A. has also received a large entry for athletic events at Ceitic Park, Laurel Hill, L. I., where the afternoon's sport will wind up with characteristic Ceitic field games. Another sign of the present popularity of athletics is the revival of the old Scottish American A. C. games, which will take place for the first time in many years at the old stamping ground, Baldwin Park, Jersey City.

Savaral star features are on the programmes. An international flavor will attach to the con-

Several star features are on the programmes of cycling meets. The principal one will be the race of one-mile heats between "Major" Taylor and Jay Eaton at Valisburg, N. J., where most of the professional cracks will assemble. The amateurs have a variety of meets to choose from in their holiday pot-hunting expedition, and good sport is insured at all of them.

The golf championship now in progress at Garden City will not prevent the decision of a number of club competitions, while yachtsmen are whistling for a good wind to saif their craft in the many regattas on the card.
